CHAIR OF HEAR US STATEMENT

Working as interim Chair since December 2021, I feel very privileged to have formally stepped up to Chair in December 2021. I am so proud of the work of our Chief Executive, Tim Oldham, who together with our wonderful staff and volunteers have worked tirelessly on the frontline to provide essential support and services, enabling Hear Us to support more people than ever before, achieving organisational growth in the most challenging of times.

Although Covid-19 restrictions were officially lifted on 24th February 2022, the pandemic continued to have an impact on society, our economy and our ways of working, meaning that our support and services have never been more needed. It has been a tough time for staff and volunteers, but everyone has kept working tirelessly to deliver the best possible service, while adapting to the new way of working by continuing to provide services virtually while working from home. The Open Forum was held remotely via Microsoft Teams. The Linkworking team ran virtual and telephone Linkworking sessions. Although reduced, the Reachout project continued to deliver sessions to the Metropolitan police.

As a result of all the tremendous passion, dedication and commitment of Hear Us staff and volunteers we are in a position to be able to expand our workforce and secure the future of all Hear Us activities. Our funders have trusted us to continue to deliver and evolve our vital services in Croydon. Eleanor spearheaded several successful funding bids while building good relationships with our funders. The whole team have been involved in the huge amount of work required to prepare for the Advice Quality Standard (AQS) assessment due in June 2022. Claire Hawkes accepted the newly created position of Deputy CEO. Thank you to Jonathan Weller for stepping up to Treasurer and welcome our two new Trustees, Niall McVeigh and Jackie Ashton

I would like to extend a well done and huge heartfelt thanks on behalf of myself and all the Trustees to staff and volunteers for continuing to make sure that the voice of service users is heard loud and proud in Croydon.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE'S STATEMENT

Hear Us is a service user-run charity that supports and advises people with serious mental illness to access financial, health and social inclusion services within the borough of Croydon. We are unique in that all 50+ staff, volunteers and the majority of our trustees are people with lived experience of mental illness; many of us still receive support from the South London and Maudsley NHS Trust (SLaM). This report provides a summary of Hear Us' activities during 2021/22

Each year Hear Us staff and volunteers signpost, support, provide advice and listen to around 3500 people affected by mental illness – with COVID-19 pandemic restrictions; we have still been able to provide advice and support to around 1970 people each year of COVID.

Linkworking Project: Managed by Barbra Davison

Before the COVID-19 Pandemic, Linkworking project had 20 Linkworkers covering 13 wards and services and running 17 sessions per week, we have continued to deliver this project by introducing remote Linkworking Sessions and prioritising the inpatient wards, Gresham 1 & 2, Tyson West, Fitzmary 1 and Gresham PICU. Our Linkworkers remotely contact service users on these wards using iPads.

In February 2023, we will restart face-to-face Linkworking sessions across Croydon's mental health inpatient wards at the Bethlem Royal Hospital and community services based at Jeanette Wallace House and Queens Resource Centre.

Open Forum: Chaired by Claire Hawkes

We have been successfully running our open forum since 2003; however, similar to the Linkworking Project, the Open Forum has also been affected by the pandemic moving from in-person to remotely running the Open Forum via Microsoft Teams; sadly, we have seen a drop in numbers from 45 to 30, but we will in the New Year be returning and live-streaming the events to allow for people who are unable to attend in person, to access. We have been able to continue running the Open Forum ten times per year remotely, except for April 2020, when COVID-19 hit. The forum has continued to allow service users to meet with commissioners and service providers.

Welfare Surgeries Project: Managed by David Ashton & Cheryalin Wilfred

COVID-19 hasn't stopped our Team from running this vital service which has been providing advice and support to those living with mental illness to navigate the DWP's complex welfare benefits system. We support our service users in claiming Employment Support Allowance (ESA), Personal Independence Payment (PIP) Universal Credit (UC) and when required, we represent them at tribunals. One of our aims is to empower all service users by giving them the necessary skills to maintain their own claims; we believe that being, and feeling, that you are in control of your own finances helps you feel in control of your own life, enabling good recovery and stable wellbeing.

Planning for our future

We invested in a Fundraising and Development Manager, Eleanor, whose responsibility has been developing our new 2020-23 business plan with the view to bringing in new funding from City Bridge and the National Lottery, enabling us to expand our Welfare Surgery Project, giving more people access to support and advice around benefits, funding has also allowed us to bring in a Deputy CEO, Claire Hawkes, to support our project managers and me.

Looking forward to 2023-25, we are looking to expand our work into neighbouring four boroughs of SLaM (Croydon, Lewisham, Lambeth and Southwark) and the boroughs of the South West London Integrated Care System (ICS), which are Kingston, Merton, Richmond, Sutton and Wandsworth. We will try to find service user groups in these boroughs and share our project and working methodologies.

During the pandemic, Hear Us staff worked hard and long hours to get accredited with the Advice Quality Standard.

It has been a privilege working alongside my colleagues, who continue to deliver amazing attitude, care, and peer support to the mental health community of Croydon.

Tim Oldham

Chief Executive Officer

I would like to thank all my staff: Al, Barbra, Carmen, Cheryalin, Claire, David and Eleanor, for all the support they have given me during the past year and the help they have given to make Hear Us stronger and more dynamic and thank the following for all the work they have put into making Hear Us brilliant:

The Welfare Surgeries Project Team managed by David and his advisor, Cheryalin, with support from Barbra and Claire

The Linkworking Team led by Barbra: Ben, Calbert, Christine, Horace, John, Jonathan, Letitia, Lorraine, Richard, Sharon, Tim. Ben, Calbert, Christine, Horace, John, Jonathan, Letitia, Lorraine, Richard, Sharon and Tim.

The Reachout Team led by Barbra: Calbert, Caz, John (Thompson), Jonathan, Martine, Sharon, Tim and Tony

A massive thank you to everyone involved over the past year in making our Mental Health Open Forum such a success from all the guest speakers to the Hear Us staff (Barbra, Claire, David, Eleanor & Shellie) and volunteers (Caz, John, and Martine who all help in the smooth-running of the forum. And of course, thanks to everyone who attends the forum, asking thought provoking and sometimes difficult questions and contributing to some lively debates.

I would like to thank all the Trustees that have helped steer the organisation: Abeline, Angela, Caz, Jackie, Jonathan, Josh, Karen, Niall & Ruth. Finally, I would like to thank everyone that has helped Hear Us grow over the years and blossom to become the charity it is today.

Our CEO set up Linkworking after experiencing his own admission to the Bethlem Hospital himself. He remembered how confusing and lonely that felt and once well and sometime after he set about launching a peer support service where previous service users provide a listening ear, support and signposting into community based services. They also feed information and concerns raised to the senior operations team based in Croydon. This is all done in the spirit of improving services and sharing good practice across Croydon based South London and Maudsley (SLaM) services both in-patients and community based.

Peer support has proven to be effective in engaging services users and hearing what they want and what works for them on their journey of recovery. The Linkworkers are able to share parts of their journey on a need-to-know basis and when it benefits the situation and use their experience to empower others to see life can be meaningful and fulfilling even with a diagnosis.

Well what a year that was! I am sure none of us imagined over a year later we would still be facing restrictions on movement and working practices.

Not being an organisation that lets the grass grow under its feet we put our thinking caps on and together we worked on how we could reach service users during the restrictions imposed on those staying in hospital. We turned to Teams on Microsoft and embraced a new virtual world

When the COVID-19 pandemic hit and then the subsequent nationwide lockdown, things changed rapidly for everyone. Thankfully, Hear Us staff were able to continue working from home, and with laptops and mobile phones were able to keep connected. We were able to continue some of our projects whilst remotely working using phone and email. Within a week or so, our team quickly started using Microsoft Teams to have virtual meetings and were able to discuss how to keep all our projects going through the pandemic/lockdown, including Linkwork.

From March 2020 visitors were no longer allowed on SLAM wards, and this included Linkworkers. CMHT buildings were also closed to all but a few essential visitors. Hear Us were concerned about the impact on service users, so we responded quickly to the challenge. Our monthly Linkwork Champions meetings were still able to go ahead – albeit through virtual meetings held on Microsoft Teams. Here, Linkworkers were able to meet with service managers, matrons and the head of OT to find out about life on the wards for patients and discuss how we could continue to support the patients throughout lockdown.

We quickly created a poster with our mobile phone numbers on and arranged for these to be displayed on all the wards and at CMHT sites. It wasn't long before we had patients on wards and service users in the community calling us for support. By April, we were already back to being able to listen, support, signpost and feedback concerns to the wards and CMHT. Service users called us from wards and the community and we were able to keep in contact with those who wanted to. Our telephone Linkwork service enabled us to help resolve issues for service users and it meant that we were not solely reliant on the staff to keep in contact with service users and track progress.

Once our telephone service was established, and it was clear that the pandemic and all its challenges was here to stay, we suggested trying 'virtual' linkwork sessions on the wards. We understood that patients were missing having face-to-face conversations and that video calls were the next best thing to physical visits to wards. Each SLAM ward was given a number of tablets which would enable video calls. In July, we piloted this on one ward to begin with and it worked well. We now have seven weekly 'virtual' Linkwork sessions happening and are in the process of setting up these sessions with the remaining wards that Linkworkers usually visit.

Over the past year we held 322 Remote Linkworking Session and had conversations with over 550 service users who raised 1596 comments and have been able to listen, signpost and support where required. Some service users have had little or no contact with family and friends and found comfort in talking to someone that is not clinical staff.

Each ward facilitates these sessions differently. One runs it as a group session, one has an OT present in the background whilst individual service users speak to Linkworkers separately, and another ward allows the service user to take the tablet to their own room.

Despite the current restrictions of the pandemic, there are some positive aspects of our new way of working, for example where a patient has been able to speak to Linkworkers in the very private space of their own room. Quite often on a ward it is difficult for the service user to speak fully openly with staff in the vicinity. Where the OT has been present, sometimes the service user has disclosed things to Linkworkers that the OT was not aware of, which has meant they are better able to support the service user.

There are obviously also challenges to 'virtual' Linkworking such as, technical issues and lack of knowledge from the staff about using Microsoft Teams. Most of our regular Linkworkers have been able to learn and adapt to working in this new way, however they need to be able to access Teams on an appropriate device and have access to the internet, which has not been possible for everyone. We are able to record some data (confidentially) and quickly collate this which in some ways is better and quicker than using paper forms etc. However, it has been challenging to obtain as much equal opportunities data and feedback, as these would usually be done on paper by the service user and would be anonymous. We have developed some anonymous online surveys but this will require a level of IT knowledge from the service user.

'Virtual' Linkwork also requires more support from the staff to facilitate this, and on a busy ward this has not always been possible. Support from the staff is crucial and if an OT is not available to facilitate, then this becomes more problematic. We are much more reliant on staff to facilitate, whereas when visiting a ward, they only need to let Linkworkers on to the ward. They don't need to be present or available for the session.

So far, we have had very positive feedback from staff and service users about 'virtual' Linkworking, and are continually reviewing, adapting and changing as needs dictate.

WELFARE SURGERIES PROJECT

It has been an incredibly difficult couple of years for everyone due to the Coronavirus pandemic, people have been more afraid, more isolated and people's mental health has suffered.

It has been a year that has left everyone very uncertain, people and organisations, and it has been no different for Hear Us. As a Service User run organisation we are a group of people living with mental illness and our mental health has been affected by the pandemic, but as Service Users we have always been motivated to help others who struggle, like we do, with mental illness and we remain motivated to try and help as many as we can who struggle to make benefit claims or have received bad decisions on their benefits or those who just need help to understand their benefits and changes that they may have faced.

Many have felt increasingly isolated as a result of the pandemic and have turned to us, not for help with benefits or to access services, but simply to have a friendly, non-judgemental voice at the other end of the phone who can be a witness to their existence and leave them feeling less alone.

We have done our best to continue to support the mental health community in Croydon but we have had to find new ways of working, helping people over the phone or via video calling, to avoid seeing people face to face and putting them and ourselves at risk. We have had to adapt to rapid changes to the benefit system introduced as a result of the pandemic, that have caused a great deal of anxiety to claimants and have left many confused.

Some have received letters stating their benefit awards were extended only to receive renewal forms a few weeks after, many have called us not knowing whether to fill out and return these forms or whether they could be ignored. Some have seen changes to the amount of money they receive that has scared them as they believe an error has been made and they may have to face being chased to pay money back.

Benefit assessments and tribunals have been conducted by phone and video, for some this is harder than a face to face assessment due to feelings of paranoia or not being I.T literate, this way of working also means that the DWP miss out on seeing someone's body language which can indicate anxiety and other mental health difficulties and, we believe, may have led to even more bad decisions by the DWP.

It is impossible to know how long the world will be affected by the pandemic or what the world will look like afterwards but we still look to the future with hope and positivity for Hear Us and everyone affected by mental health.

We always hope to empower others to take more control of their benefits and their own lives, we always believe that living with a mental health diagnosis doesn't make someone useless or incapable only that they may have to learn how to be their best selves whilst also managing their mental health difficulties and may need support and encouragement to tackle their low self-esteem and better believe in themselves and we hope to continue to give this encouragement and help people manage their benefits for many years to come.

If you are struggling with forms and assessments contact the Hear Us Welfare Surgeries Project.

PEER SUPPORT PROJECT HEAR US CROYDON

HEAR US CROYDON MENTAL HEALTH OPEN FORUM

WHY

NO

WHEN

The Hear Us Mental Health Open Forum is a place for service users to join together and discuss services that they access and other issues that affect them. The forum is primarily aimed at service users, but we welcome carers, volunteers, staff and anyone with an interest in mental health to discuss the issues that affect us all. We often have a good cross-section of all the above – depending on the topic of course!

Claire Hawkes;
Open Forum
Chair

The Open Forum would usually be held at the CVA building in West Croydon on the first Tuesday of every month, however due to the global pandemic and subsequent restrictions on meeting indoors and in groups we had to cancel our physical open forums for the safety of everyone. We had to be especially mindful of the potentially vulnerable community, that we are part of.

It has been a challenging couple of years for everyone, and social isolation has been more prevalent than ever – especially during the nationwide lockdowns, we have all faced. Back in 2020, once we realised that Covid was not going anywhere and we would likely remain isolated from each other for a prolonged period of time, Hear Us rose to the challenge and the open forum went online! So, since 2020 we have been holding ‘virtual’ open forums with the usual guest speakers, workshops, and focus groups. The only thing missing is the lunch!

Guest speakers have ranged from heads of services, clinical leads, and frontline workers from SLaM, the BME Forum, Croydon University Hospital, the Recovery College, and the CCG to name but a few. Topics have included ‘Reducing Health Inequalities & Addressing Barriers in Mental Health for BAME Communities’, ‘Croydon Health & Wellbeing Space’ and ‘Mental Health Transformation – Croydon’.

We have run workshops facilitated by staff from both statutory and voluntary mental health services, including ‘Managing Mental Health and Anxiety’ and ‘Managing Your Mood’. Some of our focus groups have included hot topics such as ‘Reducing Health Inequalities and Addressing Barriers in Mental Health for BAME Communities’ and ‘#KeepTheLifeline Campaign - Make the £20 per week uplift to Universal Credit permanent’.

In spite of the pandemic, we have been able to reach a new audience of people who may not have attended a physical forum in person in the past due to timing, location, mobility or other challenges. People attend from all over the country and from as far afield as the Philippines, as well as many of our usual attendees from Croydon.

On the other hand, we understand that many people are digitally excluded and unable to access the forum online, so we are hoping to resume usual activities as soon as it is safe to do so. We are planning to continue using a digital platform alongside the in-person forum to ensure people are still able to connect, who are not able to attend in person - hopefully maintaining the best of both worlds!

Thanks to everyone involved over the past couple of years, in making our virtual Mental Health Open Forum a success, including all the guest speakers, Hear Us staff and of course, everyone who attends and asks challenging questions to those who provide our services.

HEAR US REACH OUT PROJECT MENTAL HEALTH ANTI-STIGMA & DISCRIMINATION AWARENESS TRAINING

Working Together for Change and Better Understanding in Mental Health

The last few years has been a challenge for many of us and normal seems so far away!

The Reachout Project has continued to provide training sessions to the Metropolitan Police Hostage & Crisis Course at England and Wales headquarters in Leatherhead. Albeit a scaled down version and only a few volunteers have been able to attend.

The steering group have met a couple of times through Teams and we are looking at developing the session onto a virtual platform so we are able to reach out to more organisations during this pandemic and beyond.

We have been approached by a couple of community based organisations with the aim to provide our training session to their frontline staff.

We read some poetry, run a quiz and myth busting exercise to get the session going, and break out into groups and give the delegates a chance to ask us ANY questions which they would find difficult to ask when we are unwell.

We also encourage the organisation to talk about and support their own mental health and wellbeing. We do this by giving them tools to help them support us when we are unwell but also focusing on looking after themselves as well.

Mental health doesn't have to be all doom and gloom and we reflect this in the style of our sessions by making them fun, enjoyable and informative. Reachout Project is now funded by donations given to us by the organisations we provide training to. We all continue to go along on a voluntary basis and each and every one of us knows the worth of these sessions and some will say by taking part it is helping their journey of recovery.

Anyone interested in finding out a bit more about getting involved or would like us to deliver a training session to your organisation please drop me a line and we'll arrange to have a chat.

HEAR US CROYDON

HEAR US CROYDON SERVICE DEVELOPMENT & FUNDRAISING

During the financial year of 2021-2022, a lot of my time was focused on managing the project to deliver AQS accreditation for the Welfare Surgeries Project. AQS stands for Advice Quality Standard and is an industry standard accreditation for casework and advice for welfare benefits. This meant developing 105 policies, procedures and forms to comply with the AQS standard and deploy and embed AQS in the work of Hear Us and the Welfare Surgeries Project. We successfully achieved the AQS accreditation in July 2022 after over a year of intensive work to redesign our policies and the way in which we work with clients. This was also a prerequisite for year 2 and 3 funding by City Bridge for the Welfare Surgeries Project. A huge achievement by all especially Tim, Claire and David.

AQS took up over 80% of my time this year but there were other important areas of work during this year.

We successfully achieved funding from Lloyds Foundation primarily to fund our development and fundraising work. Along with a large grant from Lloyds we also were gifted consultancy from Lloyds to develop Hear Us further. We have been working with Julia Worthington of Amber Consultancy to review our fundraising strategy and practice and out of this we have developed a new role of a Fundraising Coordinator to work with me to develop corporate fundraising, our donor base and a new Friends of Hear Us membership scheme. This new role will be advertised for recruitment in September 2022. We will be starting work with Anna Grey of Cornish and Grey later this month on reviewing and developing our monitoring and evaluation processes within Hear Us which will enable us to report to our funders more effectively and help us to identify what we are doing well and what needs improvement. We are now evaluating other options for consultancy and looking at our future direction of travel for the development of Hear Us into the next 3 to 5 years.

Our work in 2022-2023 will focus on maintaining our AQS accreditation, developing our vision for the future and identifying funders to support Hear Us in the next phase of our development.

Equal Ops Monitoring: These tables show the number of people that Hear Us have supported over period April 2020 to March 2021

The sections marked 'Linkwork' are people who we came into contact with on our Linkworking Project; all 445 service users where not asked to provide us with the equal ops data, which we will start gathering once we go back to face-to-face contact on wards at the Bethlem Royal Hospital and Community Services at Jeanette Wallace House and Queens Resource Centre.

Due to the COVID 19 pandemic Hear Us continued to provide our services and our support mostly remotely. Annually over the past years we normally would provide support to around 4500 people but the pandemic over the past 2 years has restricted our services.

- We represent the views of people that use mental health services in Croydon to service providers and commissioners
- We contribute to the local mental health promotion agenda, and promote positive mental health within the local community
- We promote mutual respect and equality of rights and opportunities, regardless of disability, with particular reference to local mental health service users and service survivors
- We actively campaign with users on issues raised by users themselves and actively oppose discrimination against service users in Croydon for improvements in local mental health services.
- We reach out to all service users to encourage and support participation in the Open Forum
- We offer service users a communication platform for the constructive exchange of ideas on issues affecting them e.g. user council in which current concerns are discussed and debated.

We provide a wide range of information about local and national services and up and coming issues that concern users of mental health services in Croydon. Support Hear Us and get involved in the work Hear Us does in all sorts of ways. There's no pressure to do anything, but if you are keen to take action we'll support you every step of the way.
